1. The rail line from Berlin to Bremen via Stendal now terminates at Salzwedel. The 13-kilometer stretch from Salzwedel west to the zonal boundary at Bergen (Dumme) has been dismantled. It is, therefore, no longer possible to run a train through on this line west beyond Salzwedel. *
2. At two points along the rail line to Salzwedel an additional station siding has been constructed, while standard-weight rail has been replaced by light-weight rail. **

* Comment: The current Antliches Kursbuch put out by the DDR Reichsbahn indicates the dismantling of the line from Salzwedel to Bergen.
